

Join the National Vaccine Month of Action

Beginning June 4, this month-long mobilization effort is supporting the Department of Health & Human Services' We Can Do This campaign to ensure as many people as possible receive at least one COVID-19 vaccine shot by July 4.

Get Started.

Reach out to your local Health Department for assistance. The health department's immunization program can coordinate vaccination clinics, provide speakers for presentations, guide you to provider partners and offer other types of expertise.

Get inspired.

Visit Faiths4Vaccines.org to listen and read about the incredible stories of faith leaders and faith communities across the country leading efforts to help their communities get vaccinated.

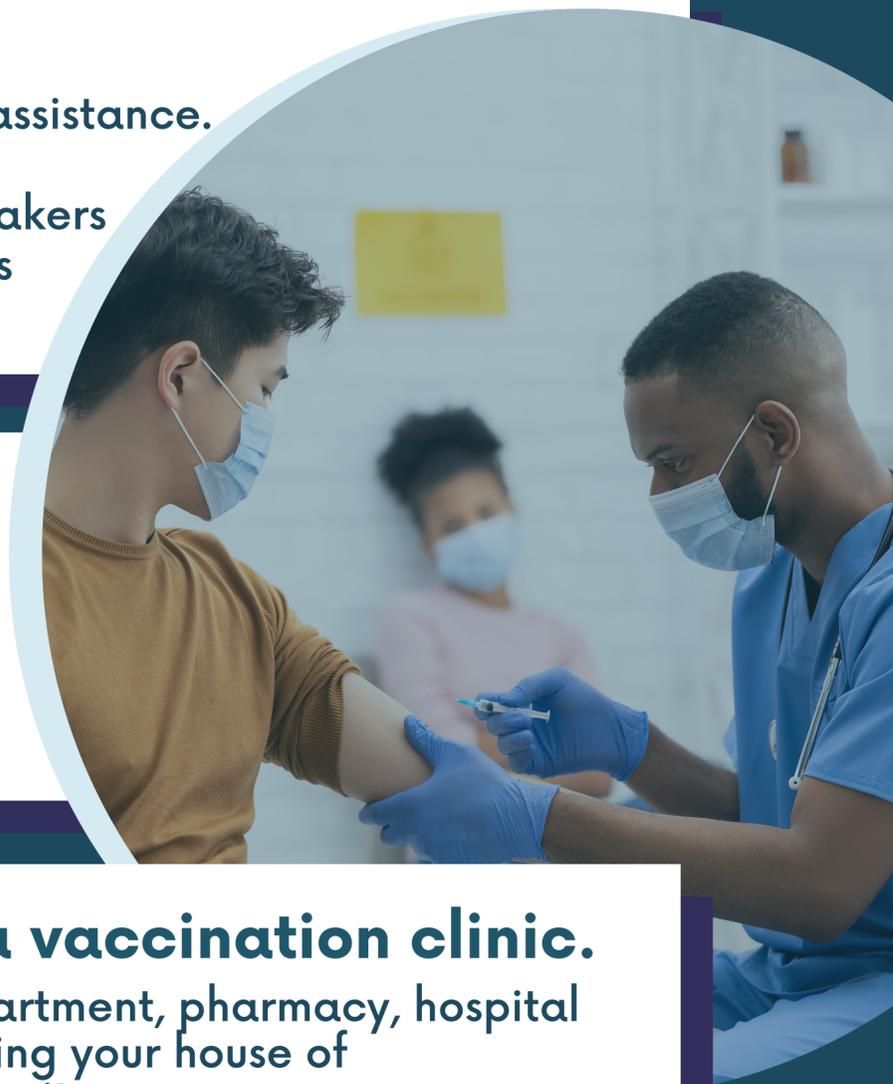

Utilize your house of worship as a vaccination clinic.

Start a conversation with your local Health Department, pharmacy, hospital or other providers to explore partnering in utilizing your house of worship/faith center as a COVID-19 vaccination site.

Reach out, as vaccine ambassadors, to local clergy who have successfully hosted a vaccination clinic to gather best practices, support each other's efforts, and encourage those in your networks who have not yet been engaged

Get Committed.

Commit to the National Vaccine Month of Action here: tinyurl.com/VaxAction

@faiths4vaccines

Ensuring Vaccine Equity & Accessibility

Reach out to your local health officials & clergy networks to see what efforts they are making in targeting underserved populations and determine where your congregation and your volunteers can support and participate in such efforts.

Reach out to civil society, civil rights and social service groups that serve underserved communities to see where you can be similarly supportive and involved.

Organize volunteers to call congregation and community members to see if they need help to register for vaccination appointments.

Provide transportation to members of your community and congregation who need assistance reaching their vaccination appointment.

Print copies of communication resources and use them as handouts or hang them in highly visible places in your community.

@faiths4vaccines

 Faiths4Vaccines
A Multifaith Movement

Building Faith in the Vaccine

Have open and honest conversations with your congregation about getting vaccinated. Speak about the moral imperative of getting vaccinated in your sermons and provide accurate information about the benefits, safety, side effects, and vaccine effectiveness.

Organize a COVID-19 vaccine presentation for your community members and promote it via digital and community communication channels. Ask if your local health department can provide a speaker if you do not have a health educator on staff or among your volunteers.

Organize a community canvass event: volunteers go door-to-door to talk to people about the COVID-19 vaccines.

Use your house of worship's printed & social media to share credible vaccine information. Use medical professionals in your congregation who volunteer to follow up in providing facts to respond to misinformation your volunteers might encounter.

Record a testimonial on why you chose to receive the vaccine and share it on social media. Make sure to tag #Faiths4Vaccines

@faiths4vaccines

Faiths4Vaccines
A Multifaith Movement